Letters to a magazine

Dear classroom magazine ,

We are writing to tell you a great idea for saving water.

The problem is that people don't close the tap while brushing their teeth.

Our idea is that if the tap has been opened for more than thirty seconds ,it starts beeping. It works with electricity . As a result ,we don't waste water. We save water and it isn't expensive.

Dear classroom magazine,

We are writing to tell you a good idea for saving water.

The problem is that people wash the dishes one by one.

Our idea is to use the dishwasher.

It cleans the dishes and we don't waste water.

We save water and is isn't expensive.

Letters to a magazine

Dear classroom magazine,

We are writing to tell you a good idea for saving water. The problem is that people wash bikes or cars using a hose. Our idea is to take a wet cloth and wipe it over the car or bike. You should pass it everywhere. As a result, we don't waste water. We save water and it isn't expensive.

Dear classroom magazine,

We are writing to tell you a great idea for saving water. The problem is that people water the plants or garden using a hose. The idea is to use less water using a watering can. As a result, we don't waste water and it isn't expensive.

Letters to a magazine

Dear classroom magazine,

We are writing to tell you about a good idea we had for saving water.

The problem is to use the washing machine just with a few clothes.

Our idea is to use it full. As a result, we don't waste water.

We save water and it isn't expensive.

Dear classroom magazine,

We are writing to tell you a good idea for saving water.

The problem is that the toilet has a leak.

Our idea is to cover the hole using tape. As a result, we don't waste water.

We save water and and it isn't expensive!
